Chapter 1 by Nadia Frausto

Once upon a time there lived a gingerbread man, who had many friends, such as hot dog and queen. All three of the friends lived with the gingerbread mans mom, the lawn mower. The lawn mower and the three friends all lived in America, in a small town called Mattress. There the three friends would roam about in the pasture, but one day they found a baseball the gingerbread man picked up the baseball and threw it through a window and into a computer. That's where things got tricky. Over the course of the next few days the electricity from the computer escaped into town and set-up shop in a bakery a couple of blocks from where the three friends lived. The three friends rush towards the bakery and when they arrived they were greeted with electrical snakes. The gingerbread man, the hot dog and the queen were all captured and taken to the electric snakes leader. When they got there they couldn't believe their eyes for the villain was the gingerbread man's mom the lawn mower. "Hello son," said the lawn mower "Mom what are you doing?" "You know son the usual, just some world domination." "Aaaaaaaaggggghhhhhhh!!!!!!!" screamed the hot dog and queen. They continued screaming all the way there where the queen threw all three of them into a well. They were left there for the next ten years, but the well was going to be destroyed. Only the queen remained in the well for the others did not perish, but were eaten by the queen, so she could live. When the workers came to tear the well down the queen screamed, and screamed, and screamed the workers all heard her but they she had eaten her friends and ignored her. One day while they were working a worker accidentally dropped a giant piece of concrete on the queen and crushed her to death, but what they didnt realize was the electricity was in the queen. The electricity escaped and took over america it's been a hard life but I am still alive.
